SCM World launches 2017 Power of the Profession Awards

Awards identify, recognise and enable collective learning from the most impactful and innovative supply chain initiatives with winners voted for by industry peers and an expert panel of independent, executive-level judges.

LONDON, 03 June 2016 – SCM World, the cross-industry learning community for supply chain practitioners, has launched its annual SCM World Power of the Profession Awards.

Award entries are welcomed from across the supply chain community and can be submitted at any time between 1 June and 16 September 2016. The winners will be announced at an Awards ceremony taking place on 31 January 2017 at the Turnberry Isle Resort in Miami, USA.

The final winners will be chosen by a panel of distinguished judges from world-leading organisations including Nestlé, Dyson, Land O'Lakes, Burberry, Nike and Chevron.

Previous winners include the Dow Chemical Company and Intel, with organisations including the Coca-Cola Company, Volvo and AstraZeneca being recognised for their entries in the sub-categories of each award.

Submissions are encouraged from across the supply chain community and should demonstrate delivery of outstanding breakthrough performances in two key areas: the first in supply chain impact and the second in supply chain talent development. More detail can be found on the SCM World website.

Following an initial shortlist by members of the SCM World research team the SCM World community will be invited to vote on the chosen group of semi-finalists. Ten finalists will be revealed in a live webinar on 1 November.

Now in their third year, the SCM World Power of the Profession Awards are seen as an opportunity to share leading examples and demonstration of innovation. They also play a vital role in growing the supply chain profession and demonstrating its central role in business growth and helping to positively impact societal challenges around health, hunger and environmental sustainability.

Winners also celebrate and publically recognise the hard work and success of their teams as well as having the opportunity to network at the ceremony held in Miami and attended by the world's most influential supply chain practitioners.
