SCM World Named on List of Britain's Fastest-Growing Private Firms

LONDON, Feb. 8, 2016 – SCM World, the cross-industry learning community powered by the world's most influential supply chain practitioners, today announced that Joshua Moore has joined the company as chief commercial officer. He will be leading the team charged with further developing SCM World's global community and presence.

Moore recently served as the global director of sales for Accenture Supply Chain Academy and held various leadership roles during his 11 years with the company. His expertise will help companies worldwide connect with SCM World's global membership base and proprietary research and insight.

"Josh's holistic understanding of this industry will add tremendous value to our clients and our educational platform," said Oliver Sloane, chief executive officer for SCM World. "With our rapid growth, we are always exploring ways to become a better resource for our members and believe investing in talented professionals is just one of the unique ways we continue to attract the interest of the world's top businesses."

Moore's team will provide other supply chain professionals with the powerful external perspective they require to maintain innovation and distinction in the ever-evolving global landscape.

"With its unique value proposition and content, SCM World is moving the supply chain industry forward in a way that no other organization is," Moore said. "I am excited about the growth opportunities with this group and feel like our benefits can resonate with even more people around the globe."

Moore holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from the University of Virginia and a Master of Business Administration from the University of Hawaii. He will be based out of SCM World's Boston office.

About SCM World understanding

SCM World is the cross-industry learning community powered by the world's most influential supply chain practitioners. It helps senior executives share best practice insights in order to shape the future of supply chain. Membership of the SCM World community, gives access to predictive, ground-breaking research which is focused on driving innovation in supply chain. The annual research agenda is set by an advisory board of the world's top supply chain leaders and the world's leading business schools. SCM World's expert researchers are committed to providing insights into important trends affecting the profession.

Supply chain can make a difference to critical world issues such as the distribution of food, delivery of healthcare and environmental sustainability. SCM World's mission is to help companies address these challenges within their supply chain.

SCM World provides businesses with a powerful external perspective on supply chain through a combination of exclusive peer connections, practitioner-driven content and predictive research. Members of the community include Unilever, Nike, Caterpillar, Cisco, Chevron, Dell, Nestlé and General Mills.
